Farm Group Backs ECA

House Members Oppose Billion Cut

WASHINGTON, March 24 — (AP) — House members from farm areas banded together today to oppose a $1,000,000,000 cut in Marshall plan cash funds voted by the House foreign affairs committee.

The foreign aid bill was called up for debate today, but House leaders saw no prospect of a final vote before next Tuesday.

Carrying authority for $2,272,450,000 in new spending for the 12 months starting next July 1, the bill is a one-package wrap-up of all non-military foreign assistance anticipated in the 1951 fiscal year.

It provides $2,100,000,000 for European recovery, including $150,000,000 carried over from this year's appropriations; $100,000,000 for Korean economic aid; $45,000,000 to start President Truman's "Point Four" program of technical assistance to backward areas; and $27,450,000 for relief of Arab refugees in Palestine.

The measure originally contained an additional billion dollars for European Recovery, but the foreign affairs committee chopped that off, voting to send abroad instead U. S. farm surpluses valued at that amount.

Alarmed over possible effects of the cash outback on the domestic farm price support program, farm state members got behind a proposal to restore the money but tie it firmly to open-market purchase of U. S. crop surpluses.

The plan was contained in an amendment to the bill prepared by Reps. Cooley (D-NC) and Poage (D-Texas). Cooley is chairman of the House agriculture committee.

Farm members contend the surplus-for-cash provision would take the Economic Cooperation Administration out of the market for American agricultural products, and at the same time subject the farmers to subsidy charges.

"This plan puts the burden and odium of foreign aid on the farmers, and leaves critics able to say this is an additional farm subsidy—which it is not," Cooley said.

3 Vehicles Damaged In Route 224 Mishap

No one was injured in a two-truck-car accident at 8:15 a. m. Thursday on Route 224, near Berlin Center.

Involved was a tractor-trailer driven by C. L. Milligan, 22, of Lucas, O., car driven by Domenic C. Scocco, 20, of Akron and the truck driven by Hollie D. Yarnell, 46, of R. D. 1, Lucas.

State patrolmen said all three vehicles were going east. Milligan, in front, was slowing to a stop behind traffic. He was followed by Yarnell. Scocco passed Yarnell and cut in between the two trucks when the mishap occurred.

In the collision both the front and rear of the Scocco car were damaged, as was the rear of the Milligan trailer and the front of the Yarnell truck.

Cambridge was selected the best supporting actress for her work in "All The King's Men," her first movie. Hoosier Dean Jagger, who tucked away his toupée to play a "retreaded" Army officer in "Twelve O'Clock High," snagged an Oscar as the best supporting actor.

Hollywood's biggest publicity stunt offered few surprises, except one of the biggest traffic jams in Hollywood boulevard history. Without exception, the awards went according to predictions.

Crawford, who was once consigned to the oblivion of B pictures, leaped from his seat when he heard Jane Wyman read his name as the winner. He could say little more than: "Thank God."

The hulking actor later said he had no idea whether or not he would win. I suggested that all the polls indicated his victory.

"Yeah," he replied, "but the poll said Dewey was going to beat Truman, too."

Miss De Havilland was calmer. She accepted the award from James Stewart with dignity, becoming the fifth star in Motion Picture Academy history to win the grand prize twice. Other double winners are Bette Davis, Spencer Tracy, Frederic March and Luise Rainer.

"I would like to continue in the same serious vein that won me awards for 'To Each His Own,' and 'The Heiress,'" she said afterwards. She added that it was "more stunning" to win the second time.

Other major awards: Direction — Joseph L. Mankiewicz for "A Letter To Three Wives"; screenplay — Mankiewicz for the same film; story and screenplay — Robert Pirosh for "Battleground"; best motion picture story — Douglas Morrow for "The Stratton Story"; original song — Frank Loesser for "Baby, It's Cold Outside"; cinematography — Winton Hoch for "She Wore A Yellow Ribbon" in color, and Paul C. Vogel for "Battleground" in black and white.

This year's special awards were noteworthy. One went to Fred Astaire for his "high art" in a musical picture. It was sentimentally presented by his old tapmate, Ginger Rogers. Astaire accepted via radio from New York.

Cecil B. De Mille was cited for his 37 years of creating film epics. Despite the fact that he has long been Hollywood's biggest money maker, De Mille's garish films have never before been honored by the Academy.

Other special Oscars went to Italy's "The Bicycle Thief," as the best foreign language film; Bobby Driscoll as the best juvenile performer, and to Jean Hersholt for his service to the industry and the academy.

The Irving Thalberg award, for high quality of work by a producer, was not presented this year.

One of the features of the program was a greeting from President Truman.

Veep To Be Speaker At Columbus Dinner

COLUMBUS, March 24 — (INS) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley will address the annual Ohio Jefferson-Jackson day dinner, May 11, in Columbus.

Eugene H. Hanhart, Democrat state chairman, said yesterday on his return from Washington that both the "Veep" and Mrs. Barkley were invited to attend the dinner. However, he said he received no indication as to whether Mrs. Barkley could attend.

More than 1,500 Democrat leaders are expected to attend the $25-a-plate dinner.

'Ike' Fears U. S. Has Reduced Arms Too Much

Ex-General Warns That Defense Is Under Safe Point

NEW YORK, March 24 — (AP) — Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower said last night that in the present atmosphere of world tension the United States has reduced its armaments below the safety level.

And, he said, the heads of government around the world know that we have done so.

The wartime Supreme Allied Commander in Europe cited universal disarmament as a major, ultimate key to true international peace.

But he emphasized that this country cannot safely trim its defenses, even to the point it already has, "until we have certain knowledge that all nations are doing likewise."

To show weakness, in the face of Soviet strength, he said, is "well nigh as criminal as war itself."

Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University, addressed some 1,200 persons at the first of a series of Columbia sessions dedicated to international peace.

He said the "formula for success" in obtaining real peace is fourfold:

"First, justice, freedom and opportunity for all men; second, international understanding; third, disarmament; fourth, a United Nations with a police power strong enough to earn universal respect."

But, with a view to present world conditions, he said:

"America is already disarmed to the extent—in some directions even beyond the extent—that I, with deep concern for her present safety, could possibly advise."

He said that the "heads of government everywhere, even the most suspicious and fearful," know that the American arms program has shrunk below the level of reasonable defense.

This has happened, he said, although "a war of aggression remains a constant threat to peaceful nations."

He said this threat would continue as long as one power—plainly Russia—"builds and maintains a military machine beyond the recognized needs of reasonable security."

Eisenhower discounted any chances for a true peace based on any "single, 'high-level' conference."

Chrysler Offers 30 Million Fund

DETROIT, March 24 — (AP) — Chrysler Corp. today offered to set up a $30,000,000 trust fund to back its promise to pay $100 a month pensions to its 89,000 striking employees.

The offer came as the strike, idling another 140,000 workers altogether, was in its 59th day.

There was no immediate comment from the CIO United Auto Workers.

The main issue in the long strike has been the method of providing pensions. The union has insisted that they be paid out of a trust fund. Chrysler previously had insisted on backing pensions by its "promise to pay."

Chrysler said the $30,000,000 would guarantee pensions to all eligible workers for the duration of the proposed five-year contract.

The company said its offer also liberalized eligibility requirements for a pension and increased hospitalization and insurance benefits.

The offer also provided for a degree of joint administration of the plan but not for joint control of the $30,000,000 fund. The UAW has insisted on an equal share in administering any pension plan.

The recently signed Ford pension plan provides for funding of back service credits over a 30-year period. There was no such provision in Chrysler's latest offer.

Mt. Gilead Filling Station Man Sure He's Seen Missing Cadet

MT. GILEAD, March 24 — (AP) — A Mt. Gilead filling station operator today said he is positive he twice sold gasoline to Richard C. Cox, missing West Point Cadet of Mansfield, O.

The operator, Lloyd Lust, told his story to Federal Bureau of Investigation agents who came here from Cincinnati yesterday to investigate the case.

Cox has been missing since Jan. 14, when he left the military reservation to keep an appointment with a civilian named "George".

Friends of Cox said "George" and Cox may have served in Europe together.

West Point officials have expressed belief Cox may have met with foul play.

Lust said the motorist he thinks was Cox stopped twice at his filling station late in January, and that there was a girl in the car both times.

Lust told the FBI agents he saw a picture of Cox last Sunday while reading the Columbus, O., Dispatch and decided then Cox and his customer were the same.

He told the Associated Press by telephone:

"I think from the picture he's the boy."

Asked if he was positive, he answered:

"Sure, I've got a lot of reasons to think it is the same man."

Lust said the two visits were three days apart. The first time the motorist gave him a traveler's check for $20, he said. Lust said he thought the name "Cox" was on the check.

"I have a signature of Richard Cox," he added.

However, the FBI agents checked the First National Bank but could not find a record of the check being deposited, it was learned.

On the second visit, Lust continued, the motorist volunteered the information he had just been married in Kentucky. He left a gray tweed topcoat with Lust when he could not pay for gasoline.

"I think he will be found alive and well, and married—to a very nice girl," Lust told a newsman.

Lust turned the topcoat over to the FBI agents, who took it with them when they returned to Cincinnati. Before leaving Mt. Gilead they said they still are "investigating."

Military academy authorities last week expressed the belief that "Cox" and possibly "George"—have met with foul play, seeing that neither have been located.

The older brother of the missing cadet, Rupert Cox, Jr., said the story Lust told sounds "a little fantastic." But it's better than the report from West Point, he added.

Ingrid, Husband Make Stab At Settlement

HOLLYWOOD, March 24 — (AP)—Ingrid Bergman and Dr. Peter Lindstrom are making a concerted, last-ditch effort through their attorneys to avoid a courtroom battle over their tangled marital problems.

Lawyers of both camps conferred for several hours yesterday and said they hoped to get together again today to continue efforts for a peaceful out-of-court settlement. They reported "progress."

The center of the hectic dispute is a 12-year-old girl, Pia, daughter of Miss Bergman and Dr. Lindstrom, noted Hollywood surgeon.

'Saucers' Old Stuff To This Scientist

Italian Claims Hitler, Mussolini Developed Idea

ROME, March 24 — (AP) — An Italian scientist said today types of flying discs were designed and studied in Germany and Italy as early as 1942.

Adolph Hitler and Benito Mussolini, he added, were interested in the instruments, the idea of which was developed concurrently both in Italy and Germany.

Flying discs or saucers have been reported sighted recently in many parts of the world. There has been no scientific confirmation of the existence of such things, nor any universally accepted explanation of what their purpose might be.

The Italian scientist, Giuseppe Belluzzo, noted Italian authority on projectiles and cannons and builder in 1905 of the first steam turbine in Italy, made his declarations in Rome's independent Giornale D'Italia.

"There is nothing supernatural or Martian about flying discs," he said, "but they are simply rational application of recent technique."

Prof. Belluzzo, a former deputy and senator minister of national economy under Mussolini, expressed the opinion "some great power is launching discs to study them."

Reports of flying discs in Italian skies have been frequent. The latest report came last night from northern Turin, where several persons said they saw a saucer speeding across the moonlit sky leaving a fiery trail.

Prof. Belluzzo's article was accompanied by a sketch showing the possible construction for a disc, using "Nafta," but it might mean Naphtha.

"The truth is," wrote Prof. Belluzzo, "that these instruments of destruction can be built and operated. The principle of the flying disc is simple, and construction with light metal very easy."

Launching of the discs, he said, can be done by rapid combustion of a cartridge similar to that with which torpedoes are launched.

Violence Marks Belgian Protests

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 24 — (AP) — A parade of 15,000 workers chanting "Death to Leopold" erupted in violence in downtown Brussels today. Street cars were stoned, one was set on fire and a motorman was beaten severely.

A parade accompanied a 24-hour general strike called by the Socialists throughout the country to underscore their demands that the exiled King Leopold III abdicate. The mining and industrial areas of the nation were hard hit.

About 5,000 workers joined the parade at the start near the Socialist party headquarters. They carried slogans saying, "Abdication." It was good humored at the outset but as the number of marchers increased their mood turned surly and violence flared.

Earlier this week, the Peoples Lumber Co. and Famous Dairy were broken into.

Burglaries Continue; Gas Station Entered

Another breaking and entering was reported to police today, making the third such case this week. This time it occurred at the Texaco gas station at 890 W. State st. sometime between 11:30 p. m. Thursday and 7 a. m. today.

Thieves forced open a rear window and took $150 in pennies, Manager W. B. Burnip reported. Nothing else was taken, he said.

Earlier this week, the Peoples Lumber Co. and Famous Dairy were broken into.

Donna Cocca, Richard Journey Win St. Paul Spelling Bee

DONNA COCCA and Richard Journey are the winners in the spelling elimination contest at St. Paul's Catholic school and will compete in the district and regional spelling bee to be held next month.

District winners in The Salem News-sponsored contest go to Steubenville April 28 to take part in the regional spellingdown. The winner of this event goes to Washington, D. C., for the National Spelling Bee May 21-22.

Donna Cocca and Richard Journey are eighth grade students at St. Paul's. She is the daughter of Mrs. Teresa Parlonieri of 151 E. Fifth st., while he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Journey of 279 N. Lincoln Ave.

Sister Alphonsus, principal at St. Paul's school, who conducted the contest, reports that Dorothy Watterson of School st. was a close second in the spellingdown.

Bricker Offers Bill On Rubber Plants

WASHINGTON, March 24 — (AP) — A bill to permit private operation of the government's synthetic rubber plants was introduced yesterday by Senator Bricker (R-Ohio).

Regulations would be issued by the President to insure an annual consumption of 200,000 long tons of general purpose synthetic.

The measure provides for import controls on rubber and rubber products and for the maintenance of facilities capable of producing 600,000 long tons of general purpose and 65,000 tons of special purpose rubber, plus one plant for making butadiene.

Air Defense Plan Okayed

House Committee Approves Funds

WASHINGTON, March 24 — (AP) — The House armed services committee voted today to authorize a $689,058,181 military construction program. Sponsors said it would greatly strengthen the air defense of the United States.

The bill, a much amended version of a Senate measure, is now ready for House action. The Senate in January passed a military public works bill of less than $500,000,000.

During hearings on the Senate bill in the House committee, the Defense department requested amendments totaling $187,142,771 for projects described as of "highest priority."

Among the new projects are a number that the Air Force, Army and Navy are anxious to start building as soon as possible. All relate to air defense.

The omnibus appropriations bill, now pending in the house, has in it an item of $300,000,000 for military public works available in fiscal 1951, which begins next July 1.

In the bill just approved the Air Force was granted the largest authorization—$257,975,044, an increase of $49,735,451 over that in the Senate bill.

The Navy was given the largest increase. Its projects totaled $243,542,301, an increase of $75,623,500.

Army authorizations total $187,540,825, stepped up from $89,090,880.

In addition the committee authorized $12,439,300 for the Army's special weapons project, an increase of $625,000.

Of the overall total, the sum of $447,314,993 is authorized for construction within the United States of which $87,800,300 is for the Army, $158,008,800 for the Navy and $201,505,893 for the Air Force.

The military forces propose to spend nearly half, of $229,325,893, of the committee-approved total outside the United States.

Department Shows Files On Mystery Man

"No. 1" Spy Named By Senator Never Employed, Claim

WASHINGTON, March 24 — (AP) — A fresh controversy boiled today between the State Department and Senator McCarthy over his charges that the agency is riddled with Communists.

As Senate investigators awaited a presidential decision on access to government loyalty files, the Wisconsin Republican hotly disputed the State Department's stand that the man McCarthy describes as Russia's top spy in the country is not connected with the Department. The man's name has not been made public.

A Senate foreign relations subcommittee headed by Senator Tydings (D-Md.) is investigating McCarthy's charges that Communists and their friends have slipped into State Department jobs.

Tydings told a news conference late yesterday that the Department, at his request, had provided the employment record of the individual McCarthy named in secret sessions as a Soviet espionage agent.

In a statement to which McCarthy later took vigorous exception, Tydings said:

"The record of employment given me is as follows:

"He has never been employed by or connected with the State Department except once. About five years ago, for a period of four months only, he was associated with a mission outside of the United States.

"Once thereafter, on a single day, although not employed or compensated by the State Department, he publicly addressed a group of State Department employees.

"On another occasion, though not employed by the State Department, he took part over a period of two days with distinguished Americans who were participating in this discussion.

"I am advised there was no other contact, association, employment or connection between the State Department and this individual in any manner or form, at any time, save as mentioned above."

McCarthy immediately called a news conference of his own and blasted the State Department report supplied to Tydings. He called it "a deliberate misstatement of the facts" and "another one of those obvious attempts to twist and distort the truth."

The man he accused, said McCarthy, "has a desk in the State Department, or at least he did until three or four months ago."

"He is one of their top advisers on Far Eastern Affairs, or at least he was until three or four weeks ago."

McCarthy also declared that Tydings "has in his possession a sworn statement from another State Department official that this man was a consultant on Far Eastern affairs at least as late as last December."

McCarthy declined to name the other official or to say under what circumstances Tydings received the statement.

Group Discusses School Finances

Teachers In County Meet At High School

"How Our Public Schools Are Financed" was the topic of the Salem Teachers Association meeting Thursday afternoon in the High School auditorium. Salem public school teachers and members of the Columbiana County Teachers Association attended. John Paul Olioman, president of the Salem Teachers Association, presided.

First speaker, Supt. E. S. Kerr, said one of the first duties of the Board of Education, after its members have taken the oath of office, is to prepare a budget in which plans are made for the best schools the community can afford.

Never before—such exquisite timepieces!

Bulova—awarded Fashion Academy Gold Medal for outstanding design—1950

The budget is then presented to the county tax commission. County Auditor I. J. Vorndran spoke on his responsibilities to raise the money for Salem, Salem Township and Columbiana County schools. Since 1933 Salem has also received state aid. The budget, based on the tax return of the previous year, covers salaries, maintenance of buildings, supplies and the bonded indebtedness.

Mr. T. G. O'Keefe, director of research for the Ohio Education Association, spoke on "What's Ahead For Ohio Schools." He said the increasing number of pupils calls for building of the equivalent of a 15-room elementary school every other day for the next four-and-a-half years.

The concentration of wealth in industrial centers leaves some rural districts without money to build a school or provide for themselves as do the cities. Even consolidation fails to solve the problem in many cases.

Mr. O'Keefe said there is up to $2,000 a year difference in salaries in various communities. Salem is about the median for the state. Among the states Ohio ranks ninth in teacher training, 17th in teachers' salaries and 23rd in the amount spent per pupil. Ohio is 12th in income per pupil.

In the question period which followed, Mr. F. E. Cope asked if the difference between income and the amount spent per pupil indicated there are more powerful lobbies in Columbus than the education lobby.

Mr. O'Keefe answered that legislators, seeking votes, divert money into the "pork barrel." Mr. Vorndran agreed. Mr. O'Keefe said it does not bring desired results to lobby at Columbus. The lobbying needs to be done at home and the public needs to be educated to realize the value of trained teachers, adequate buildings and well-equipped facilities.

Ohio needs a state board of education, entirely separate from political strings, Mr. O'Keefe added.

Several proposals for the extension of sewerage facilities to areas just outside the corporation are being pondered by the Board of Public Affairs.

Bishop Titus Lowe of the Indianapolis Methodist area will preach in the Columbiana church, Sunday evening, April 23.

Care of the landscaped corners of the public square is being considered by the municipal authorities. The southwest corner and parts of others may be spaded up and seeded. Although parts of the square, these corners were closed off and landscaped to reduce the paving area when the square was paved two or three years after the turn of the century.

Linda Ward and Jo Ann Harding were named the outstanding models when Senior Tri-Hi-Y girls of Columbiana High School modeled a spring fashion preview in the High School auditorium Monday evening, and a dress was awarded Jane Case for the most prospects.

Other girls participating were Jean Clawges, Jane Babbitt, Dorothy Ellis, Carolyn Bevington, Annabell Brooking, Alice Fisher, Bonnie Jones, Barbara and Janet Davis, Stephanie Bookwalter, Lana Keller, Gayle Jackson and Betsy and Carolyn Detwiler. Dorothy Ramsey read the descriptions and Janet and Janice Magill provided music. About 200 persons were in attendance.

James M. Elliott of Youngstown, past grand master of Ohio Odd Fellows, was the speaker at a promotional meeting of the 27th Rehearsal for the Minstrel Show being sponsored by George D. Worth Post, American Legion, will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the home.

Celesta and Linda Woolf, June Ellen Zink are ill.

Joint meeting of Knox Township P. T. A. was held at American Legion home Monday evening. A box social was a feature of the evening. Twenty-nine boxes were auctioned by Florin Woolf and netted the association about $40.

During the business meeting, short talks were given by Hugh McCracken, Ralph Bradley, Lee Galbreath, John Pickens.

A short program followed consisting of a piano solo by Eileen Bradley; a poem by Norma Jean Mercer and Judy McCracken, and a poem, The Old School Building, written by the seventh and eighth grades.

Two moving pictures, "The Difference" and "The Wittenberg Story," will be shown at the Lutheran Church at 8 p. m. Sunday.

WILD OAT FARM, Fleming-which began "no explanation was ton, N. J., March 24—(INS)—The Democrats have the farm vote sewed up in a sack for '50 and '52, in the expert opinion of Mr. Bib Stanley, who runs the big dairy farm across from Wild Oat.

"Yes, sir, I'll old Harry is as good as re-elected if he runs again in '52," said Mr. Stanley today as we set in the kitchen over a pot of coffee. "Rural vote did it in '48 and it'll do it again in '52."

Mr. Stanley started pawing through the pockets of his expensive custom-tailored tweed jacket. With evident satisfaction, he handed me a clipping from the local newspaper. "Rural crime rise tops cities' rate" the headline read.

Beneath was a column story out of Washington, D. C., summarizing the annual report of the FBI. Mr. Stanley pointed proudly to a paragraph that read "J. Edgar said that while the crime increase was 4.2 percent in urban centers, the rise was 8.5 in rural districts. In rural districts, there was an amazing increase of 17.5 percent in burglaries, 12.7 in robberies and 7.4 in larcenies, as compared with nominal increases in urban districts."

MR. STANLEY pointed an eloquent finger at another paragraph

Brown Feels Truman Popularity Is Down

CLEVELAND, March 24—(AP)—A Republican Congressman believes that President Truman's popularity is "at the lowest ebb of any time since he has been in office."

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, O., representative from the seventh Ohio congressional district, said yesterday a "general reaction" against Mr. Truman was particularly noticeable in rural Ohio.

"Farmers are concerned about farm prices," Brown asserted. "They now are getting for their products about half the price Mr. Truman said they would get when he was campaigning. And the coal strike hasn't helped the President's popularity, either."

Brown, manager of Sen. Robert A. Taft's (R-Ohio) campaign at the 1948 Republican national convention and now a member of the GOP national policy committee, spoke at the Women's City Club here.

Too Early For Pumpkins?

THE backing of Senator Mundt of South Dakota for a bill to curb the Communist conspiracy in the United States is a flashback to momentous events in 1948. Meanwhile, Representative Nixon of California is asking for a non-partisan probe of the State Department.

Mundt in 1948 was an active member of the House committee on un-American Activities. He and Representative Nixon of California, another Republican member of the committee, submitted a bill to curb the Communist conspiracy in the United States. This bill passed the House but was pigeonholed in the Senate. It was substantially the same bill now being backed by Mundt as a senator. Its purpose was to outlaw the Communist conspiracy in the United States.

The Mundt-Dixon bill was lost sight of in 1948, because more exciting things began to happen. President Truman, annoyed by the un-American Activities Committee, made his notable remark about red herrings. Alger Hiss was questioned, with some curious results. Whittaker Chambers produced some incriminating documents which he had hidden in a pumpkin. The names of Elizabeth Bentley, Nathan Witt, Lee Pressman, John Abt and others flashed through the news, with violent repercussions.

It suddenly became plain to a great many Americans who hadn't been paying much attention to the situation that things had been going on in Washington which needed attention. And it became plain to them that the House Committee on un-American Activities had been the cause of bringing some of these things to attention. They began to understand why its critics were so violent; they had something to hide.

Then the election took place. Control of Congress changed hands again. The House Committee on un-American Activities passed into the control of people who weren't interested in such things as pumpkins, much less in red herrings. But a great many other people are still interested—and particularly in the curious circumstance that the same crowd which tried to shut up the Mundts and Nixons in 1948 are now trying to shut up an inquiring congressman named McCarthy. What are they afraid of if they have nothing further to hide?

3 Percent Votes

THE shrill squawk by party mouthpieces after the House joined the Senate in throwing out government aid for cooperative housing projects reveals what was behind this idea in the first place.

The squawk was to the effect that the opposition had forced the cooperative housing issue into the 1950 congressional election and into the 1952 presidential election—that its congressional opponents would be held answerable for their opposition at the polls.

But wasn't the issue in politics all the time? There is no reason to believe it wasn't introduced in Congress for the express purpose of converting its almost certain defeat into a political issue. The Trumanites are going to need something from now on besides the Taft-Hartley Act to win friends and influence people. What could catch more votes more quickly than 3 percent interest on government—guaranteed mortgages for small-income Americans interested in housing?

There are two catches in the kind of housing proposed, but they may not be spotted in time. One catch is that the housing would be cooperative. It would be applicable only to a few congested population centers where great numbers of low-income Americans might be interested in cooperative housing. The other catch is that the federal government would be able to inch forward another step in its campaign of creeping socialism.

But we suspect that he won't have much time for the Moscow version of "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," if there is one. More likely he'll be listening to Molotov, Malenkov and Stalin, who'll be asking him how come he happened to get caught.

And in the end, Comrade Gubitchev may turn out to be the pioneer television user in far-away Siberia. We can see the headline now: "Video in Verkhoyansk."

Loving To Live

By Hal Boyle

AT 70 HOWARD W. Blakeslee has solved the problem of how to keep from growing old—"stay young!"

This two-word motto would be meaningless except for the fact that Blakeslee doesn't base it on book learning—he bases it on living.

At the age of three-score-and-ten his biggest personal problem is he can't go out on evening engagements now because it is so hard to find a baby sitter.

"You never can be sure the maid, or somebody else, is available," he said mildly.

This would be more disconcerting except for the fact that Howard has seven children of his own and eight grandchildren. His children came in two crops. The youngest of the second crop of three is Alan, 6.

"But not one of the seven came when he was expected—or when I could afford him," said Howard.

This Blakeslee is quite a person, a tall, slender, blue-eyed, white-haired man who has done the most of anyone in his lifetime to bring science down to the understanding of the ordinary man.

HIS FORMAL title is "Science Editor of the Associated Press," which cloaks the fact he 20 years ago also pioneered in wearing bright-patterned hand-made silk stroy itself.

ties when it took real courage to wear them.

Howard works at the desk next to mine and he is my despair. He was born in an Indian village in what was then the territory of Washington, he has traveled 250,000 miles covering science stories, he wants to work forever, and he still does by actual volume twice the work of any reporter I know.

"I just want to keep on finding out—keep having the fun of reporting," he said.

His religion is reporting. He was twice thrown out of Michigan University for annoying the faculty with his embarrassingly accurate news stories as a student. Thirty years later he was called back and given the honorary degree of master of science for his "informed newspaper work."

His feeling is that he was steadfast—his alma mater just grew up.

He also collected a Pulitzer prize, the goal of every newspaperman, but figures that isn't as important as the fact he has helped save several people's lives.

"That was only because hundreds of people over the years have come to me and asked me to send them to a reliable doctor," he said. "The funny thing is they could have called a medical society and got the same result. The medical facilities are there—but too many people are too shy to seek them out for themselves."

SOME MEN at 70 are disillusioned. Howard feels that the human race is happier than it was in his youth. He doesn't feel—though he spans the age from horse and buggy to guided missiles—that mankind will ever develop.

How Well Can the Pinch-Hitter Hit?

Secretary Acheson On Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

KEY WEST, FLA.

WHILE the two major speeches which Secretary of State Acheson made last week were approved in advance by President Truman, it seems safe to assume that they were not analyzed in the way that an all-over document usually is, for example, by the British cabinet, where every sentence of every state paper of that kind is subjected to the severest scrutiny.

Mr. Truman, of course, isn't the kind of man who likes to become immersed in details or in the techniques of policy formation. He likes to have cabinet officers come up with an explicit recommendation, briefly stated—and if the outline or synopsis looks sensible to him, he goes along with the idea wholeheartedly.

Formulation of policy by the whole cabinet is conspicuous by its absence in Washington. It seems doubtful whether the inconsistencies in the Acheson speech on Russia, for instance, would have escaped the critical eye of a whole cabinet group.

THUS, after telling Russia what America thinks should be done to relieve the "tensions," Mr. Acheson says all participants "would have to produce unimpeachable evidence of their good faith" and that all "would have to accept agreements in the observance of which all nations could have real confidence."

This was a good way to say it, but the sentences almost immediately thereafter are disappointing in their blunt reversal of viewpoint—in their brusqueness. For if you want to reach an agreement with the other fellow and inspire mutual trust, you don't in one breath say you want good faith to prevail and then pour cold water on it all, as Mr. Acheson did when he said:

"I feel, however, that I must warn you not to raise your hopes. No one who has lived through these postwar years can be sanguine about reaching agreements in which reliance can be placed and which will be observed by the Soviet leaders in good faith."

SUCCESSFUL diplomacy opens doors. It assumes good faith. It seeks for agreement in principle. It then discusses the application of that principle. It doesn't make a single concession, of course, until it is assured it will get one in return. But, above all, successful diplomacy doesn't call names, publicly attribute bad motives to other governments—even though it may be convinced of the existence of evil. Successful diplomacy looks for ways out even when it may fear there aren't any—but it looks for them just the same in the hope, remote at times, that a way out of the labyrinth of controversy may still be found.

What Secretary Acheson did in his speech was to tell Russia, in effect, to stop harassing American interests all over the world. But he overlooked the fact that this, after all, is Russia's way of conducting a cold war, just as our military missions to Greece and Turkey and our Marshall Plan Aid and our Atlantic Pact constitute our way of conducting a cold war.

PEACEMAKING is a matter of expediency always—it is a recognition of realistic facts, often unpleasant facts. But the alternative—total war—is much worse and is justified only when diplomacy has really failed. Unfortunately, the two Acheson speeches are not examples of a start toward good diplomacy.

Secretary Acheson is a very capable person—a man of extraordinary intellect, though lacking somewhat in the qualities of perception that go with the politically elected official who can sense currents of public thought. What is needed is not a new secretary of state but to persuade the present secretary of state that, if there is a real intent to end the cold war, it cannot be done by speechmaking or international propaganda but by a willingness to sit down and examine minutely all phases of the over-all situation at the same time and develop some device for the peaceful coexistence of the communistic and capitalistic systems in the two countries most concerned.

Gadgets

By TRUMAN TWILL

J. B. PRIESTLY, the English writing man, says gadgets have been a lifelong source of pleasure for him. All of us can agree that gadgets are like frosting on the cake.

Whether we're in the league that features elevators in our houses or in the league that specializes in fancy exhaust pipes on automobiles, life without gadgets would be dull and drab.

The worst that can happen to anyone is to lose gadgetry zest. On the day when a glib talker demonstrating a novelty can be passed up without remorse, the danger sign is in sight. That's the time to buy a new cigarette lighter that plays "Yankee Doodle" in two-part harmony.

Or a pen with a patented built-in feature guaranteed to last a lifetime, on the sound assumption that a fellow never knows from one day to the next when his number's going to come up.

Or a compass that can be installed in an automobile to tell the driver and the other occupants what direction they're moving in at any given moment, on the sound assumption that if there were no road signs a compass would come in handy.

Or a new tool that will bore square holes, on the sound assumption that the demand for square holes, though not brisk, is constant.

Or an instrument to detect radiation from fissionable material, on the assumption that it will be fun to play with, will startle one's friends and in the remote event of atomic warfare would be a handy thing to have around the house.

Or a timepiece that tells not only the hour of the day but the day itself, the month, the year and the winner of the American League championship, on the sound assumption that if all other sources of information failed this would be worth its weight in plutonium.

Or a billfold with pushbutton control and yak leather fittings, on the sound assumption that being parted from one's money automatically would be worth a couple of yaks.

Or a household device that whips cream and skins rabbits simultaneously, on the sound assumption that if this gustatory parlay ever occurred the device would come in mighty handy.

Or an ashtray that dispenses rain-checks, soft drinks, mood music and corn plaster, on the sound assumption that a customer never knows what will be needed next.

Or a reversible garment with a different color on each side, on the sound assumption that if a fellow were being pursued by the police a quick change would throw them off the track.

To be forewarned is to be forearmed. A gadget in time saves boredom.

WITH 3,729,000 new babies in the nation it is apparent that these are changing times.

We had so many new babies last year you'd think the Department of Agriculture was supporting the price.

One foreign correspondent cabled home, "this is a strange country . . . they produce food they can't sell, babies they can't house and bombs they can't bear to talk about."

The baby derby has census-takers running like Citation on their practice exercises. . . just as they're snapping their brief cases shut, someone calls, "hold it!"

One fellow says, "I've only covered eight families and I have four requests to call back in a day or two for revised figures."

Boss says "how about the other four families?" Fellow says, "queuing up in the crib line."

It's a good idea to keep Stalin guessing though. . . we can tell him we have 3,000,000 under arms without telling him they're being burped.

Gen. Fairchild

By PETER EDSON

Death of 'Unknown' Hard Blow To Air Force

HE WAS an Air Force general whom few people knew. When wires carried the news that Gen. Muir S. Fairchild had died of a heart attack, even many officers and men in the Air Force may have had to knit their brows and ask, "Who?" For here was no strutting, be-medalled, publicity-seeking martinet.

He was a four-star general—the number two man in the Air Force. He was buried the next day in a simple grave at Arlington National Cemetery, with full military honors. All the big brass came out to do him honor, for he was a general's general. But such was his passion for anonymity that he was practically unknown, outside of his own small circle.

Arnold, Spaatz, Doolittle, Kenney, Vandenberg and the others won the battles and the headlines. General Fairchild had been assigned to stay home—a Pentagon general who worked on plans.

If suddenly, tomorrow, the United States should be attacked by an air raid that dropped an A-bomb, there would be an instant retaliation. It would be aimed at immobilizing the enemy until the United States and its allies could mobilize for counter-attack. The plans are all made and this general nature of their content is common knowledge.

IF THESE plans work, one of the men to whom top credit should go would be General Fairchild. For that had been his job. He had been general manager of the Air Force. It had been his responsibility to see that the plans came to life and did not lie around as mere pieces of paper in some forgotten file.

Because he was such an excellent planner, General Fairchild had been picked for this job two years ago. He had been jumped from a two-star general to a four-star general, over the heads of many another who had been his senior. But that was only one of the many surprises in the career of this unknown general.

He was an old man, the way Air Force generals go. He was 55. What's more he was not a West Pointer. He came up the hard way. He enlisted as a private in 1917, and he came up through the Washington state national guard.

In World War I he was a bomber pilot attached to the French Air Force and he flew on a number of missions over the Rhine. He stayed in the Army after the war and got the usual run of assignments. He was a test pilot for a time, and he flew one of the old bombers on the Pan American Good Will Flight of 1926. He went to a lot of service schools, including the War College, but when World War II broke, he was only a lieutenant colonel.

They grabbed him quick, however, promoted him into brigadier general and put him in War Plans Division at Air Force headquarters. He was one of three officers on the Joint Strategic Survey committee. He sweated out most of the war there, with an Army general and a Navy admiral, constantly reviewing, constantly planning.

The staff officers who worked with him used to say that he had the uncanny ability of being able to walk into a meeting, look at a plan on a piece of paper and to know, instinctively, what had to be done to put it into operation.

THEY hung a Legion of Merit and a Distinguished Service Medal on General Fairchild when the war was over, but he still wasn't famous. Then in 1946 he came up with an idea of his own that will make him long remembered in the Air Force. It was a plan for the Air University.

General Fairchild had never graduated from college himself. World War I had broken off his own formal education, and he never went back to finish. It was not the least surprising of this unknown general's achievements, therefore, that he should become best known as an educator. He was more celebrated in the educational world than in the military.

They told him to go ahead with his Air University idea and put him in command of it. His headquarters was at Maxwell Field, Ala., but his campus was scattered all over the South.

He pulled together the Air War College, the Air Command and Staff School, the Air Tactical School and the School of Aviation Medicine. He worked out a plan whereby every Air Force officer now gets an educational rejuvenation every seven years or oftener.

General Fairchild thought he was "set" in his new job and he loved it. Then in 1948 they grabbed him again, and made him Vice Chief of Staff for the Air Force. He would have been in line to succeed Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, when his tour of duty on the Joint Chiefs of Staff comes to an end.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Lemons Won't Cure Ills

LEMONS have for some strange reason always been associated with either healing properties or harmful effects. The first two questions today deal with this subject.

Q—I was told to take the juice of one lemon each morning and that would help my arthritis. I have been doing this for two weeks. Will this do me good?

A—The lemon cure for arthritis is one of the oldest supposed remedies for that condition. I do not know of any scientific reason why it should do any good, nor do I have any colleagues who seem to recommend it.

Q—Does lemon juice thin the blood?

A—No.

Q—I have three boys, ages 17, 16 and 13. The older one hates the youngest and takes every chance to make fun of him.

W. O.

A.—Practically all parents who have more than one child have the same experience of difficulty between brothers and sisters. Sometimes such difficulty is constant and sometimes only occasional. It causes parents much distress but seems to be deeply ingrained in human nature.

I do not know of any cure for it but suspect that if parents paid it little attention and tried to help each youngster to go his own way rather than forcing brothers, or brothers and sisters, into each other's hair, it might help.

Q—How many times should the food be chewed before it is swallowed?

E. T. D.

A—Food should be ground up in the mouth into small pieces and mixed with saliva. The saliva contains substances which aid in the digestion of starches. The grinding makes it possible for the digestive juices to reach the food particles more easily.

There is no standard number of times to chew, although there was a vogue several years ago for chewing each mouthful a certain number of times. The important thing is to use the teeth until particles are reasonably well mixed with saliva.

Q—Please tell me how much vitamin A should be taken for the eyes.

B.

A—I do not know of any reason why vitamin A in tablet form should be taken for the eyes at all. Probably enough of this vitamin is obtained in the ordinary diet to supply all that the body needs.

Q—Does shock treatment really help with a troubled mind?

READER.

A—Shock treatments undoubtedly help some people with mental disorders. It is not recommended for all people with a troubled mind, whatever that means.

Mrs. Robert Lieder To Head Beta Psi Sorority Chapter

MRS. ROBERT LIEDER was elected president at the Thursday evening meeting of Beta Psi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Mrs. Ethel Buehler and Mrs. William Drakulich were co-hostesses to the members in the home of Miss Elizabeth Dales on Franklin st.

Mrs. Lieder will succeed Mrs. Emmett Harroff in May. Mrs. Buehler was elected vice president; Mrs. Harold Butler, recording secretary; Mrs. Clyde Letcher, corresponding secretary; Miss Martha Hollinger, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Wolfgang, extension officer.

Mrs. Harroff and Miss Elizabeth Dales will be sorority City Council members, with Mrs. Lawrence Kaercher and Mrs. Hilles Linton as alternates. The officers will be installed at the formal dinner party April 27.

The drive to purchase a television set for the Memorial building was furthered by the sorority, which voted $20 to the fund started by the Progressive Mothers Club. The money will be secured from a benefit for members and guests at the next meeting, April 13, at the home of Mrs. Kaercher.

Four artists and a picture each had painted were used by Miss Joyce Allabach, sorority sponsor, in illustrating her topic on the principals of art work. To give her audience a working idea of the principals involved in creative drawing, she had each member make "scribble" and "dot" drawings with pencil and crayon.

The artists and their works included: Grant Wood and his "Arbor Day"; Jon Corbino, "The Flood"; Rockwell Kent, "Winter," and John Stuart Curry, "Line Storm."

Little cotton chicks emphasized the Easter theme in the buffet luncheon appointments.

Emanon Club Enjoys Coverdish Dinner Party

Emanon Club members composed the guest list at an enjoyable coverdish dinner party arranged by Mrs. Gus Edling and Mrs. Howard McGaffick Wednesday evening at the Edling home, E. Eighth st.

A pink lace cloth covered the table, which was centered with a stork. Around it were lovely gifts which were presented to Mrs. Walter Hiltbrand, honor guest. Stork favors marked the places.

Cards were played, with prizes going to Mrs. Curtis Hippely and Mrs. Kendall Ingram.

Stale pound cake can be saved. Slice it to bread thickness and toast it. Then serve it with ice cream.

CADET SERGEANT Arthur R. Cutliff, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Camellia Club Honors Mrs. Howard Waffler

Mrs. Howard Waffler was presented a gift in recognition of her birthday by members of the Camellia Club at a meeting Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Glen McLaughlin, E. Fourth street.

Five hundred was the main diversion. Prizes were shared by Mrs. Ted Enders, Mrs. Richard Johnson and Mrs. Nicholas Chitea. Lunch was a concluding pleasure. April 12 meeting will be with Mrs. Earl Cody of W. 10th st.

Willing 4-H'ers Name Officers At Meeting

James Menning was elected president when the recently formed Willing 4-H'ers met Thursday evening at the Willow Grove grange hall. Arthur Werner is vice president and John Brantingham is secretary-treasurer. David Brantingham was elected recreation leader and Charles Rogers was chosen the news reporter.

William Werner is advisor of the club which now has 17 members. The possibility of forming a ball team and the selection of projects by the members were discussed by the members.

14 Given Degrees At Butler Grange

Fourteen candidates were given the first and second degrees at a meeting of Butler Grange Wednesday in the hall, near Wintonia.

Midway Grange degree team exemplified the work. Master Clarence Crosser took the place of Capt. Ben Weingart, who is ill, on the team.

The Stephen Family, entertainers, will present a program April 28 at the hall for the benefit of the softball teams. The benefit for the teams last week was reported successful.

Ten members were present for the Juvenile Grange meeting. One new member, Shirley Wickensham, was obligated.

The members will participate in the doll dressing and bird house building projects, which are county, state and nationwide.

Gerald and Ronald Slutz and Donnie Mercer are reported ill. Roll call for the meeting was "Some First Sign of Spring." Readings were given by Freddie Vogelhuber and Joan Mohr. The meeting concluded with singing "America."

Queen Esther Class Awards Contest Prizes

Barbara and Beverly McGaffick, twins, delightfully entertained the members of the Queen Esther Class of the First Friends Church Wednesday after school at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Charles Hill, Arch st. Mrs. L. L. McCullage is teacher of the class.

Prizes in the Bible contest were awarded Barbara Tolson and Gayle Paxson. Games were played and television entertained.

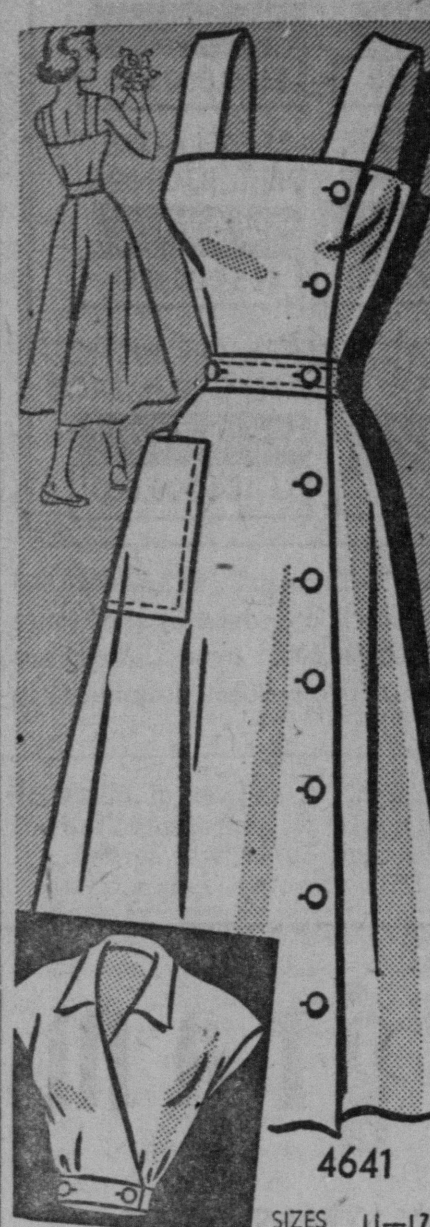

Mrs. Hill served a two-course lunch at a table beautifully appointed in keeping with the Easter season. Yellow and pink tones predominated. Favors were miniature baskets filled with candy eggs. There were 14 members and two guests.

Mrs. Englert Hostess To Club Associates

Among the Thursday evening hostesses was Mrs. Daniel C. Englert of Ohio ave., who entertained club associates.

Guests enjoyed the hours playing "500" with prizes going to Miss Joyce Lowry and Mrs. Paul Heim. Lunch was served. April 6 meeting will be with Miss Jean Stanley at Damascus.

Go 'All-Out' With A Steak Party

HOW about a steak? I mean a thick one, marbled with fat, charred on the outside, red to pink on the inside and as tender as a young girl's heart.

Any man knows there's nothing better to eat. Only three things are needed: The right steak, the kitchen range and courage. Courage is important.

Broil that steak forthrightly. Don't be afraid of it. Just light your broiler at least 10 minutes before you plan to use it, grease the rack with a little fat so the meat won't stick and place the steak three inches from the flame.

Give it high heat. Turn it only once when half done. If you are not certain just how things are going, make a little slit and peek. That's against the law of course but it saves a lot of disappointment.

When broiled to your heart's desire, swing to a hot platter. Carve around the bone, lift out the bone, press meat together and slice across grain from edge to edge. This method gives everyone some of the tenderness.

For an inch-and-a-half-thick steak, allow about nine minutes per side if you want it rare, 10 minutes for medium and 12 for well done. For a two-inch steak (ah, let's have it!) allow about 16 minutes on each side for rare, 18 minutes for medium and 20 for well done.

Seasoning Important
We, at our house, season it before broiling—at least an hour before time the steak is taken from the refrigerator. Meat should be at room temperature for broiling. We season it freshhandedly. Freshly ground black pepper and garlic salt is one form of benediction. Another is black pepper and hickory salt, or just plain pepper and salt.

How much steak for each person? There are many answers, depending on the amount of bone, the degree of the appetite and, sad to admit, the family purse. However, for an all-out steak party, allow a pound per person and have it two inches thick. Porterhouse and T-bone are the top-hat members of the beefsteak set, but sirloin is way out in front, too. In fact, many steakomanics prefer it. Invite your friends and buy your steak. Be sure your steak knives are razor-edged. Have a large bowl of green salad waiting for its dressing and French bread (that's for dunking). Exhibit your steak, well seasoned, on a small table. When your guests arrive, let them ogle it. Nothing starts a party off so well.

Never rush your guests. Ask them when they want the steak. Then broil it while they relax in anticipation.

Your sauce can be just plain butter, or chopped fresh chives and butter, or you might try this—rub the platter well with a cut clove of garlic, sprinkle with a little dry mustard, a dash of cayenne, salt and freshly ground pepper. Dot platter liberally with butter, then place platter in oven a few minutes until butter melts. Plunk your broiled steak right on top of this nectar.

Locker System Question Argued

Fleckner, Rutkowski At Odds On Legality

COLUMBUS, March 24—(AP)—Are private clubs which do not have liquor permits evading state liquor regulations in permitting the "locker system" of drinking?

"Not if the locker system is 'Simon pure,'" says Oscar L. Fleckner, director of the State Liquor Department.

But Anthony A. Rutkowski, chief of the enforcement division, says all "locker systems" are illegal.

Fleckner and Rutkowski are not in disagreement over what is legal and what is not. But they disagree on terminology, that is, what constitutes a locker system.

Here is how Fleckner defines a "Simon pure" locker system: "If a qualified member of a country club which is not a holder of a liquor permit lawfully and personally purchases an alcoholic beverage, retains physical possession of the beverage in a sealed container, personally transports it to the country club, places it in a locker which he rents and then drinks from it in the privacy of the club premises, then there is no actionable violation of the liquor control act or regulations of the board of liquor control."

But according to Rutkowski, such usage and consumption does not constitute the "locker system." To the enforcement chief, the locker system is where intoxicating beverages are sold and the seller does not have a liquor permit.

"The employment of any scheme or device by whatever name known for the purpose of evading the requirements of the state law to have a permit does not thereby place the cloak of legality on the transaction," he said.

"Any system under which intoxicating beverages are sold without a permit issued by the department of liquor control is illegal regardless by what name it is known."

The question of liquor systems is something of a hot potato at the moment.

Since January 1, some 33 clubs which had D-4 (private club) liquor permits have had them cancelled by voluntary surrender or by not applying for renewal. During all of 1949, only 14 private clubs took such action.

There is some reason to suspect that raids by liquor agents on private clubs in a search for slot machines has been the reason for the recent wholesale cancellations.

Brakeman Injured In Boxcar Accident

CLEVELAND, March 24—(AP)—

A 31-year-old brakeman was yanked from under the wheels of a steel box car last night after an hour and a half struggle.

Police from Cleveland and suburban Parma, where the accident occurred, finally hoisted the car with two 50-ton jacks and dragged Anthony Homchik from under the wheels.

Homchik, who remained conscious throughout the rescue operation, was in critical condition at Deaconess Evangelical Hospital today, his left leg severed and his right leg badly mangled.

He had returned to work only last night after a 10-month furlough and was brakeman of a crew moving 20 cars in a routine shifting operation.

CHOOSE KLATT SUCCESSOR

WARREN, March 24—(AP)—

William A. Klatt of Niles was replaced last night on the Trumbull county board of elections by Mrs. Merle Connell of Girard. Mrs. Connell previously had replaced Klatt as county Republican chairman. Klatt resigned the party post and was ousted from the elections board by Secretary of State Charles F. Sweeney as a result of his conviction last Nov. 9 on a charge of accepting $3,800 to get a Cleveland restaurant operator a liquor license.

Stock Exchange

Market Heads Down At Opening Today

NEW YORK, March 24—(AP)—The stock market headed downward at the opening of business today.

In high-speed trade leading issues dropped fractions to around a point. As soon as overnight orders were cleared up, turnover slowed abruptly.

Profit taking sales were a carry-over from yesterday when the market tried hard to advance but was finally beaten back.

Zenith Radio, a favorite in the last couple of days, lost 1½ at 56½.

Others marked down included Youngstown Sheet, Western Union, Anaconda Copper, Santa Fe, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Packard, Republic Steel, Southern Pacific, American Tobacco, Union Pacific, Radio Corp., U. S. Steel, and Jones & Laughlin.

A few running against the trend were General Electric, Warner Bros. Pictures, and Good-year.

Leetonia C. Of C. To Hold 1st Meeting

LEETONIA, March 24—The first formal meeting of the Leetonia Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday evening at the Crescent Stables. The recently written constitution and bylaws will be submitted for approval and permanent officers will be elected.

Preparation of the constitution for the new Chamber was handled by a committee composed of T. L. Little, acting chairman of the group; Rev. T. P. Laughner, D. F. Grapp, Willis Peet and James Blackwood. Standing and permanent committees also will be formed Monday night.

The organization has been under discussion for three months and the chamber of commerce-type plan was selected at a meeting in February.

Plans indicate those attending the meeting and wishing to join the chamber will be charter members. Charter membership, which will be open to April 1 also may be obtained by mail if the interested party is unable to attend the session.

Eligible for membership are retailers, industrialists and interested individuals. Organizers of the chamber hope the officers will be installed immediately to handle the schedule of activities that face the group.

Teaspoon Not Good Robbery Weapon

COLUMBUS, March 24—(AP)—

A man who police said tried to rob a drive-in restaurant with a teaspoon last night turned his "weapon" over to them and remarked:

"Silly, ain't it?"

Police agreed with Charles Trusley, 27, of Ottawa, W. Va. They said Trusley tried to rob Daniel Manes, proprietor of the Cottage Drive-in, holding the spoon in his pocket as if it were a pistol.

Manes said he tricked the man into thinking police were nearby and the spoon bandit fled. Police caught him after a chase.

Police quoted Trusley as saying he served six years in Mansfield, O., reformatory for a $5.26 robbery, in which he hit his victim over the head with a beer bottle.

The man was booked at police headquarters for investigation of robbery.

Buckeye School Tree Planting To Highlight Arbor Day Here

AGAIN Salem schools will give recognition to Arbor Day, Friday, April 14, through appropriate programs. Trees will be planted on Buckeye school-ground as a part of the observance, Superintendent of Schools E. S. Kerr said.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who officially proclaimed this date, also designates April as Conservation month and the week of April 10-14 as Conservation Week in the Ohio schools.

"The citizens of Ohio," the proclamation declares, "must continue to recognize the importance of the conservation and restoration of our natural resources of soil, water, forests, minerals and wildlife."

Of American origin, Arbor Day is 78 years old. It has been observed in Ohio since 1882.

The plan to devote a certain day each year to the public planting of trees and call it Arbor Day was first proposed in 1872 by J. Sterling Morton, then a member of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture and later United States secretary of agriculture. In those days Nebraska was called the "Great American Desert" and Morton had the vision to see that the planting of trees would transform his state into a more fertile and prosperous region. First Arbor Day was observed on April 10 with parades, bands playing and flags flying. As a result of that day more than a million trees were planted in Nebraska during the ensuing year.

Arbor Day was made a legal holiday in Nebraska in 1885. At the same time the state legislature changed the date to April 22, to correspond with Mr. Morton's birthday. Ten years later the legislative body resolved that Nebraska should be known as the "Tree Planters' State." Since the inception of Arbor Day in Nebraska, many millions of trees have been planted in that state alone.

Nebraska's successful Arbor Day activities inspired other states to plant trees, thus Tennessee and Kansas started Arbor Day in 1875 and Ohio and North Dakota followed in 1882. Now every state in the Union has an Arbor Day, although the date of its observance varies. In the northern states it comes in the month of May, while in other states it extends from December to April.

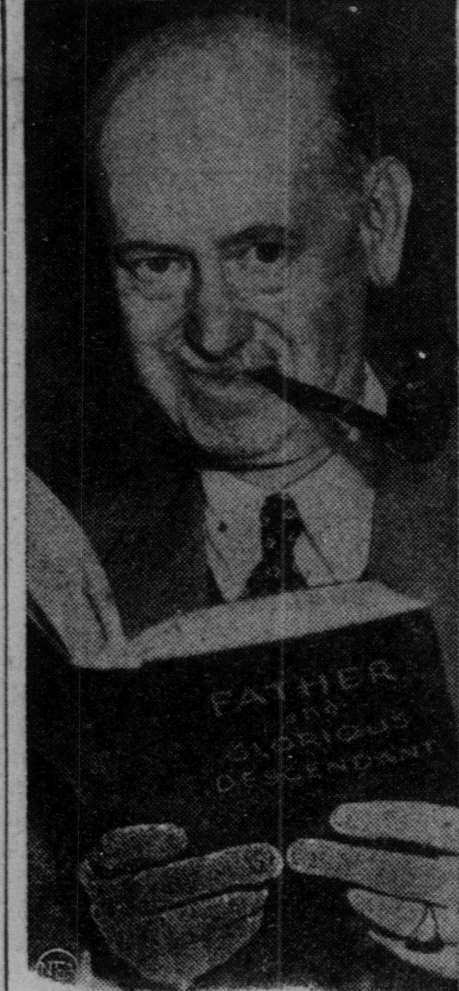

The ancient had their tree-planting ceremonies, too, according to the American Forest Products Industries Inc. Aztecs of Central America are said to have planted a tree every time a child was born and to have given the child's name to the tree. In parts of Mexico the Indians still observe this custom. In Germany and Switzerland commemorative tree-planting goes back into folk lore.

Switzerland's tree-planting festival is known as "The Swiss Parade" which dates back to the Fifth century. It was started in the little town of Brugg, so the story goes, where the town folk planted oak trees on the village common. . . . as the trees grew the people were so pleased that they instituted the day of tree-planting as a yearly holiday. Every year on a certain day the children formed in line and marched to the oak grove and collected twigs and graded with them, thus showing how the oaks were thriving. At the close of the parade rolls were distributed and eaten.

In England a remarkable commemorative tree-planting observance began in 1897 during Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee when shade trees were planted in acoustic form at Eynsford. During the South African war the shade trees spelled out the names of three battles—Kimberly, Ladysmith and Mafeking.

In Arizona and New Mexico, large areas have been reseeded by dropping millions of seed-bombs from airplanes. The bombs, which bury themselves on striking the earth, contain grass seed, fertilizer, and rodent repellent.

PHI BETA POPPA—Channing M. Page, 56, of Rochester, N. Y., was pleased to learn that he had received a Phi Beta Kappa key for recent work at the University of Rochester. Page finished the four-year course in two years. Page doubts that his son at Dartmouth can tie his scholastic record.

Extremely hot or cold water, wringing or rubbing, and alkaline soaps are harmful to wool fabrics.

Two Doctors Honored For Work

BALTIMORE, March 24—(AP)—Two doctors from world-famed Mayo Clinic will receive this year's Passano Foundation award for pioneering the development of the hormone cortisone in the treatment of rheumatic diseases. Dr. Edward C. Kendall and Dr. Phillip S. Hench were selected by votes of more than 900 medical men to be presented with the $5,000 award in San Francisco June 28.

The Foundation, set up in 1943 by the Williams & Wilkins Company, Baltimore publishers of scientific books, said cortisone has produced amazingly quick temporary relief in cases of arthritis and has been given experimentally in rheumatic fever cases.

By 1935, Dr. Kendall had isolated cortisone, one of several hormones released from the outer shell of the adrenal gland, located just above the kidneys.

Earlier, Dr. Hench, studying arthritic diseases, had observed that in persons with jaundice and women who were pregnant, any rheumatoid arthritis they may have had usually disappeared temporarily. He reasoned that some chemical release in the body during pregnancy or because of jaundice was effective against arthritis. He conjectured the mysterious substance might be a hormone from the adrenal gland. Both doctors are now working at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Mullins Captures City Championship Without A Setback

Ohio State Nipped By CCNY's Beavers

NEW YORK, March 24—(AP)—City College of New York's rampaging Beavers and a gang of whirling dervishes from North Carolina State University will tangle tomorrow night in the eastern finals of the NCAA basketball tournament.

And Dapper Nat Holman, coach of CCNY, thinks his National Invitation tournament champions can take the Carolina wolfpack, provided they stay hale and hearty.

The busy Beavers came through in one of the greatest basketball games ever played in Madison Square Garden last night, gasping out a 56-55 victory over Ohio State's Buckeyes before a roaring crowd of more than 18,000.

N. C. State's victory over favored Holy Cross in the second game—a methodical 87-74 job by the lean, hard-running Wolfpack—was anticlimactic.

Ohio State, the Big Ten conference champion and rated the nation's No. 2 college club, and CCNY were just as closely matched as the score indicated. The score was knotted at 40-all after the first half, and it might have been the loss of the Buck's great All-America, 6-5 Dick Schmittker, that provided the final difference.

Schmittker came through with 26 points, but scoring honors for the evening went to Sam Ranzino, a 6-1 forward with N. C. State. Ranzino pumped in 12 field goals and eight charity pitches for 32 points, a new NCAA tourney one-game scoring record.

Holy Cross, badly off on shooting, went ahead of State just once, 20-19 during the first half, which ended with the Wolfpack comfortably ahead, 44-29.

Bob Cousy, the Crusaders' All-America ace, had miserable luck in the first half, getting only five points. He sank nine baskets in the second and finished up with 24 points. Matt Formon, 6-4½ Holy Cross center, tallied 19 points.

The winner of tomorrow's game takes on the winner of the western NCAA regional tournament for the championship Tuesday night in the Garden. Play in the west starts tonight, with Brigham Young tackling Baylor, and Bradley meeting UCLA.

Holy Cross and Ohio State play a preliminary game tomorrow for third place in the east.

COPE ON THE AIR

A sports broadcast, concerning the coming track season, over Youngstown Station WBBW at 7:15 p. m. Monday will feature Salem High's Fred E. Cope.

Cope will appear on the show along with Sim Earich of Warren, newly-elected president of the Ohio Track Coaches Association; Dave Williams of Youngstown South High School, and George H. Gaines of Youngstown.

Ohio's Taylor Sets New Swimming Mark

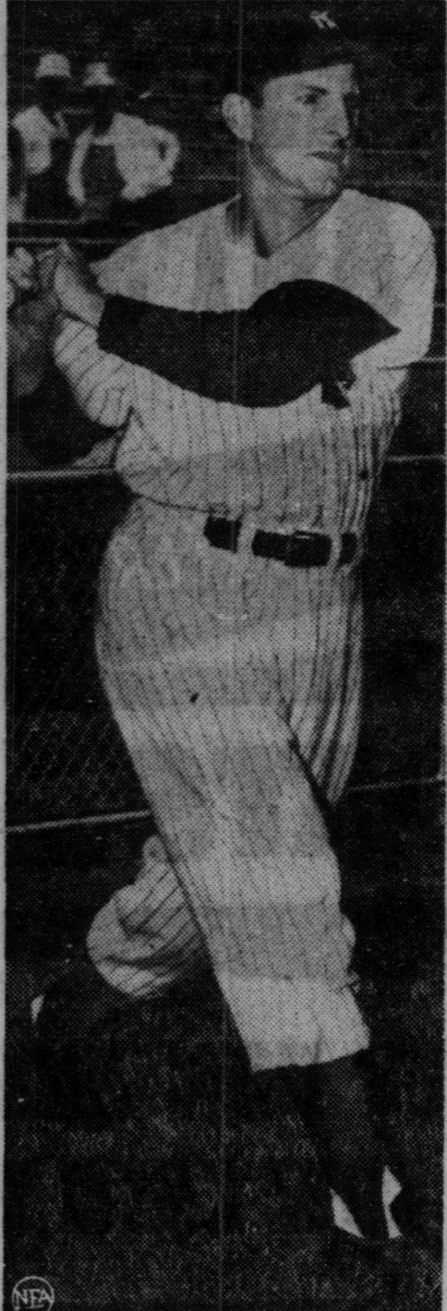

COLUMBUS, O., March 24—(AP)—Bolstered by a record-breaking effort by sophomore Jackie Taylor, Ohio State's Buckeyes paddled into the second day of the 27th annual NCAA swim championship still favored to keep their title.

Taylor, a slim 19-year-old sophomore from Akron, O., smashed his own American and intercollegiate record in the 1500-meter freestyle, only event of last night's opening program.

He lunged up and down the Ohio State natatorium pool a shade over 65 times in 18:38.3. Two weeks ago, Taylor won the Big Ten championship with a new American and intercollegiate mark of 18:58.1.

Until Taylor began splashing water at it, the 1500-meter mark had stood for 15 years. Jack Medina of the University of Washington set the record in 1935, doing the distance in 18:59.3.

Luster of the Ohio team wasn't dimmed by the fact that two husky Stanford University veterans captured second and third has indicated a preference for first base, eliminating Old Reliable from Yankees' outfield scramble. Now 34, Henrich took up the slack in DiMaggio's absence in 1949, feels the energy conserved in the infield can be put to good use as added batting power in New York Americans' bid to repeat as world champs.

FIRST RATE—Tom Henrich

In the 1500-meter and a first-night team lead of seven points.

The experts still figured Yale to provide Ohio's toughest opposition, principally because of the Eli relay teams and a water sprinter named Raymond Reid.

And, Yale failed to count a point in the 1500-meter with two entries.

Today's program in the three-day NCAA joust called for preliminaries and finals in six events.

First event is the 50-yard freestyle, which is looked on as a dogfight between Reid of Yale, Henry D. Paton, Jr., of Michigan State, Robert Busbey of Penn College (Cleveland) and Herbert Kobayashi of Ohio State.

Reid, on the basis of performances in the eastern intercollegiate, is given a slight edge over the field, although he finished third last year behind Paton. Busbey was the fourth-place winner last year. Kobayashi is another of Ohio State's promising sophomores, trying to follow the tradition of other Hawaiian champions at the Ohio school.

Underdogs Win Tilts In Pro Cage Playoffs

NEW YORK, March 24—(AP)—Three underdogs aren't paying any attention to the final season standings in their playoff battles in the National Basketball Association. Sheboygan, Fort Wayne and Tri-City up and swatted their opponents last night in the post-season battles. But eastern division champion Syracuse defeated Philadelphia, 59-53, its second straight.

Fort Wayne breezed to a 90-84 victory over Rochester, co-champ of the central division, in the first game of their best-of-three series.

Sheboygan came from behind to whip champion Indianapolis of the western division, 95-85, and even their series at one a piece. The deciding game is scheduled for Saturday at Indianapolis.

Beat Fisher's 57-33 For Title

Sekely's Cop Class B Crown; Top Millville

Mullins classy cage team, getting better every year, Thursday night rolled to a 24-point victory over their closest rival, Fisher News, to wrap up the 1950 Class A championship and remain undefeated.

The Manufacturers had little trouble in disposing of Fisher's 57-33, as the score indicates. It was their third championship in a row and it looks as though it will become a habit.

Norm Smith, the club's high point man all year, paced the attack last night with 14 counters, while Frank Lanney dumped in 13. Mike Linder collected nine for Fisher's and his brother, Al, got eight.

The tilt completed the Shaughnessy playoff in Class A. Sekely's powerful Class B five also wrote finis to the Class B play-off by trampling Millville 45-37 to win their title.

The Sekely team likewise has not lost a game all year—a rare performance for any team in the hotly contested B league. Thursday Jack Scullion led the clever Sekely team with a 14-point show, followed by Tom Cope, with 12. Mayhew meshed 14 for the losers.

The Class C play-off will go the limit of three games, as the Baptists came back last night to even the games at 1-1 with a 43-34 victory over St. Paul. Utterback scored 15 points for the winners, and Carmello had 17 for St. Paul.

Moe Scarry Resigns Western Reserve Post

CLEVELAND, March 24—(AP)—Western Reserve University hopes to pick a new football coach promptly—if possible before present indoor spring grid squad drills move outdoors. Meanwhile Dick Luther, onetime all-Ohio tackle at Reserve, will be acting head football coach.

Mike Scarry left the Redcats' head football and basketball coaching jobs yesterday to assist Dick Gallagher at Santa Clara. Gallagher also took Ed Ulinski who has helped Scarry's spring training the last two seasons.

Bill Council, athletic director, said he will start interviewing applicants for the vacancies early next week.

Eaton, Miller City Topple Foes In State Class B Tilts

COLUMBUS, March 24—The Class A kids take over today in Ohio's high school cage tourney, and if they put on a show approaching that of the Class B boys it should be a thriller.

Today's program, in the state fairgrounds Coliseum, sends Garfield Heights (19-4) against Akron South (17-3) in the 2:30 p. m. game, and Mansfield (21-4) against Springfield's Wildcats (16-7) at 8 p. m.

In a pair of classy contests yesterday, Eaton's 1948 champions and Miller City's mighty mid-gets, only undefeated team boasting 28 straight conquests, won their way into Saturday's Class B finals. The payoff game promises to be one of the finest in tournament history.

Eaton won handily over Geneva, 56 to 41, after leading all the way. Gene Neff, Eaton's six-two center and the outstanding player of the first day's play, poured 24 points through the hoop in one of the best scoring displays since Cridersville's Roger Phillips got 33 in 1941.

The Golden Eagles, connecting on 22 of 60 shots from the field, led 20-10 at the quarter, 29-17 at the half and 45-24 at the three-quarter mark at which point both coaches decided the issue was settled and sent in their second stringers.

It was different in the Miller City-Corning conflict, for the unbeaten Wildcats came up with as fancy a comeback as the historic Coliseum has ever seen.

Corning's railroaders, towering over the Putnam county pygmies, looked in the early going as if they'd never read even one of the terrifying press clippings of the Miller City squad. And the Miller City squad looked like anything but world beaters as the Railroaders ran through, over and around a zone defense to build up a 16-9 edge in the first quarter. The Corning lead zoomed to 25-11 soon after the second session started, and with that 14-point edge in the first 10 minutes it looked like a walkaway for Corning, and the end of the Cinderella team's dream of winning the title in its first attempt.

But Coach C. Norris Simpson, in his first year as a cage mentor, took advantage of a time out to get things straightened out. He pulled out his play book for a quickie basketball lesson during the short rest, discarded the zone defense for man-to-man, and sent his little fellows back into the fray.

Each team scored 14 in the second period, leaving Miller City behind 30-22 at the half. Simpson's team started a pressing defense far down the floor as the second half opened—and that was the beginning of the end.

Corning, unable to shake off the smaller opponents who buzzed around their foes like pesky flies, started making miscues; poor passes and fumbling. Miller City, acting as if the David-Goliath act was nothing new, proceeded to mow down the Railroaders.

When the third period ended the Wildcats had a 22-point session to their credit, while Corning scored but six—and Miller City was out front 44 to 36. Corning moved up to a 43-46 deficit, but was behind 50-45 at the automatic timeout and was held scoreless in the final two minutes.

Miller City's defense was so sticky that the Railroaders had only 37 shots at the basket, of which they cashed the amazing total of 17. The winners made 20 of 77 shots.

Miller City, with 84 students, including 38 boys, was well represented. Half the boys in school are on the basketball squad, but only 12 may play in the tourney, so the other seven tooted in the school's 32-piece band. Two sets of brothers, Ralph (6-0) and Roy (5-4) Meyer and Joe (5-8) and Mel Lammers, and cousins Frank (5-6) and Vernon (5-9) Schroeder make up half the cage squad. All but Mel Lammers got into last night's game, and the tiny quintet contributed 44 of the 52 points. Ralph Meyer led the list with 14.

Scoring honors for the tilt, however, went to Jerry Roof, Corning's fine forward who whipped 'em in from all parts of the court for a 20-point total. His mate, Bill Theisen, got 13.

Back of Neff, in the Eaton-Geneva game, came Jim Merrell of the losers, a six-three 225-pounder who connected for 13 points.

Geneva was making its first appearance in the big tourney, and Coach B. A. Mallone came up with a graceful gesture in his losing fight. He used his entire 12-man squad—and the kids at least won the satisfaction of appearing in the year's biggest game.

A crowd of 4621 witnessed the afternoon fray, but the Coliseum had the "S. R. O." sign out for the Corning-Miller City event as 7102 crowded into the 6882-seat arena. That boosted the first day's attendance to 11,723, as compared with last year's opening total of 11,330.

Youngstown College Lists Eight Games

YOUNGSTOWN, March 24—(AP)—The Youngstown College Penguins will play an eight-game football schedule this fall, including three new opponents, it was announced today.

Marshall College, to be played at Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 21; Quantico Marines, here Nov. 2; and Bowling Green State University, here on Nov. 11, Armistice Day, are the new foes.

Other games: Sept. 24, at Dayton; Oct. 5, Gustavus Adolphus; Oct. 14, John Carroll at Cleveland; Oct. 27, Niagara University; Nov. 16, Mount Union.

LISBON HEARS WILLIAMS LISBON, March 24—Dave Williams, Youngstown sports official, addressed the Lisbon Kiwanis Club at its weekly luncheon here Thursday, when the Lisbon High cage teams were guests. He spoke on the subject: "Getting the Most out of Schooling."

Heavyweight Belters In Garden Go Tonight

NEW YORK, March 24—(AP)—A couple of ex-GI's who were trudging through Europe only a few years ago, collide tonight in a Madison Square Garden heavyweight headliner that may send the winner up for a title bout in June.

The former soldiers are Roland La Starza, a smart counter-puncher, and Rocky Marciano, the Brockton (Mass.) belter with the long knockout string.

Both are unbeaten, without even a single draw to mar their records.

Indians Stopped By San Diego Club

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 24—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians could thank Joe Gordon for saving them from an embarrassing shutout by their Pacific Coast League farmhands, the San Diego Padres.

Gordon's home run in the top of the fourth was the only one of six scattered Cleveland hits that counted for anything last night, as the Padres scored a 2-1 victory over the parent club.

The second sacker's homer put the Indians ahead, but not for long. San Diego tied the score in the last half of the fourth on three hits, including a double by Milt Nielson, one of the four Cleveland players who joined the Padres' ranks yesterday.

The deadlock went on until the seventh inning. Then Jack Graham tripled off Mike Garcia and Henry Storey doubled him home. The Tribe missed its chance to go ahead in the first half of the seventh when it left two men stranded on third and first.

Al Olsen was the Padres' starting pitcher. He was relieved in the sixth by another southpaw, Roy Welmaker.

Garcia retired at the end of the seventh and Bob Lemon pitched the eighth inning, giving up one hit and two walks.

The three other Indians who went to the San Diego club yesterday were veteran catcher Mike Tresh, pitcher George Zuverink and outfielder Orestes Minofo.

Tom Wright of Louisville last season posted the highest batting average in AAA baseball when he led the American Association with .368.

Robert (Lefty) Grove led the American League in earned run average nine times, a major league record.

Small Talk

Expressive before the camera, the diaper set also is word-wise, or should be. On authority of the editor of Stork News, Syms (Samuel B. Gornbein) of Los Angeles, these babies have as much to say as any adult and in about the same way. TOMORROW: more cuties.

"Am I too late?"

"Don't worry, mother. We'll be home early..."

"Tell him I'll be down in a minute."

"Don't you just LOVE these sambas?"

Illinois finished the 1950 Big Ten basketball season as the highest scoring team in conference history.

Questions and Answers
Q—Who originated the baseball rain check?
A—Abner Powell of New Orleans gave to baseball one of its most valuable assets—the rain check. In 1889 it was the custom to climb the fence of old Sportsman Park to see a game. If it rained, the fence buster walked out the main gate and received a ticket to the next day's game. That was no way to make money so the rain check scheme was invented.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE — With Major Hoople
I JUST SAW YOUR BROTHER JAKE, MAJOR. HAD SOME GUY WITH HIM BIG ENOUGH TO EAT HAY AND OATS! THEY MARCHED PAST ME AS SNOOTY AS A WEST POINT PARADE!
EGAD, SPARROW! DON'T FEEL SNUBBED! JAKE CONCENTRATES INTENSELY WHEN HE HAS SOME DEAL ON THE FIRE!
HOW'D JAKE DO ON THEM LAKE-FRONT LOTS HE WAS SELLING, MAJOR? I MEAN THE ONES NOT ON THE LAKE, BUT IN IT!
UM! WHAT IS THAT RASCAL BREWING?
MAYBE HE'S SELLING GRANT'S TOMB TODAY.

CARNIVAL — By Turner
FOR SENATOR SMEDLEY D. SMEDLEY MAN OF PEDDLE
"The preceding time was paid for by Smedley Smelt, candidate for senator—the boos from the studio audience were paid for by his opponent, Jasper McGoon!"

ARE YOU LIVING THE Modern WAY?

You deserve the best of everything . . . the things that can make life easier, more fun, — things you can be proud of. You deserve them because here in America we have learned to work together, to produce more goods for more people than any other country in the world. Being an American means more than just being lucky enough to live in the greatest country on earth. We all deserve the best that America has to offer in pleasure and comfort because we Americans always reach out for the newer, better, more modern way to do things, which not only helps us, but help us keep our country ahead of the rest of the world in modern conveniences, in better living, in real progress.

Measure yourself against the items on this page. Are YOU getting YOUR share? Are YOU contributing to the progress of America? Are you getting what you deserve from the Miracle of America?
